Diagram illustrating the circuit board layout for the "Circuit No. 1" mark. The diagram shows a rectangular board with a central square area divided into four quadrants by dashed lines. The board is populated with numerous small rectangular components, likely integrated circuits, arranged in a grid. Dimensions are indicated: A is the width of the board, B is the height, and 0.8 (PITCH) is the distance between components. A "Fitting Nail" is shown at the top edge, and a "Housing" is shown at the bottom edge. The label "Circuit No. 1" is written vertically on the right side, with "Mark" written below it.
